EXTENDED BIO

For Dr. Adeolu Adeboye, medicine has always been more than a profession. It is a calling rooted in faith, a commitment to excellence, and a desire to make a lasting difference in the lives of others.

Originally from Nigeria, Dr. Adeboye pursued his medical journey in the United States. He earned his undergraduate degree in Neurobiology from Cornell University and his medical degree from the Frank H. Netter MD School of Medicine at Quinnipiac University. He completed his General Surgery residency at Guthrie Robert Packer Hospital, followed by fellowship training in Trauma and Surgical Critical Care at the University of Pennsylvania.

Today, he is a trauma surgeon and surgical intensivist at HCA Florida Bayonet Point Hospital, where he also serves as Associate Program Director of the General Surgery Residency Program. As an educator, he is deeply involved in teaching and mentoring the next generation of surgeons. He believes that excellence in surgery is reflected not only in the care we provide today, but also in the knowledge, skills, and values we pass on to those who follow.

That same conviction drives his writing. He is the author of Surgical Mastery: The High-Yield ABSITE & Written Board Review and Surgical Critical Care: From Physiology to Practice. His forthcoming book, Grace Revealed, explores the richness of God's grace and what it means for everyday life. He also speaks on leadership, purpose, global health, medical education, faith, and resilience.

In 2024, Dr. Adeboye and his wife, Abiodun Adeboye, founded Shekinah Global Healthcare Foundation to expand access to free medical and surgical care for underserved communities in Nigeria. Working alongside healthcare professionals, volunteers, and partner organizations, including Pro-Health International and Pistis Foundation, the foundation has participated in collaborative medical missions that have collectively reached more than 12,000 patients and beneficiaries and delivered over 780 surgical procedures.

For Dr. Adeboye, surgery, teaching, writing, and service are not separate pursuits. They are different expressions of the same calling.

Topics and introduction

A rare combination of trauma bay experience, global health leadership and heartfelt faith, for every stage and every conversation.

Leadership	Leading teams under pressure, building high-performing surgical and humanitarian teams, and mentoring the next generation.
Purpose	Finding and living a calling in medicine, and why purpose is the strongest protection against burnout.
Global health	Why training local health workers builds lasting capacity, and what diaspora-led service makes possible.
Medical education	Teaching surgical judgment, mentorship, and turning clinical experience into resources for trainees.
Faith and service	How faith shapes a life in medicine and a commitment to serve communities with little access to care.
Resilience	Staying steady in high-stakes work, and turning hard seasons into growth.
